Under the heading "OBSTINATE TRUCKEE", the Grass Valley Morning Union summarizes rather pointedly the natural reaction of out-of-Truckee observers concerning our recent election on incorporation. We are pleased to quote the neighboring newspaper which says:

"The town of Truckee has again declined to become a city of any 'class' whatsoever. This has been going on for a number of decades, perhaps being a continuing tradition from the old wide-open days when Truckee regarded the less law of any kind the better.

"But times have changed, and at this time rather generous packages of real money are being tossed to municipalities, big and little, as their cut in the gasoline, liquor and divers other state taxes. It would appear that even the least of the wayside towns would be anxious to incorporate and thereby benefit in improved streets and like betterments. And Truckee is quite a distance from being the least."

Our pat on the back this week goes to Deputy Sheriff Tom Dolley who was observed in the act of ejecting panhandlers from the streets two at a time. Over the recent holiday weekend, Truckee was visited by a dozen ill-mannered beggers, who seldom missed a new arrival parking along the main street. These professional beggers not only molest local shoppers, but by their persistent mooching of tourists create a bad taste and leave a lasting impression of our otherwise normal town. We believe they should be ousted as fast as they arrive, and not given an opportunity to become acquainted with local residences and business houses which easily could be looted by these experienced itinerants.

The Parents and Teachers Association members expressed their appreciation for the fine turnout at their party last week. Considering the fine work done by this group of earnest workers, we believe the thanks ought to be the other way around. They are worthy and deserving of continued support and Truckee certainly needs what the P. T. A. has to offer.

For the quarter ending March 31st, the City of Colfax received $610.40 as its share of the motor vehicle license fees apportioned by the state. Colfax has a population of 794. Grass Valley received $4,382.72. Nevada City was apportioned $1,879.63. Isn't it a fair question to ask what Truckee gets from this refund? The answer is obvious.

Bandits Hold Up Hobart Woman On Reno Road

Armed, Masked Robbers At Drinking Fountain Escape

CHILD IS THREATENED

Captain's Wife Is Victim Of Culprits Near State-Line

Mrs. Robert Bowles, wife of the commander of the Hobart Mills CCC company, reported to Deputy Sheriff N. F. Dolley Tuesday night that she and J. L. Price, company office boy at Hobart Mills, were held up and robbed of more than $30 by two armed bandits near the drinking fountain close to the Nevada state line at 6:45 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Bowles, who recently came here from Evanston, Ill., said she was returning to Hobart Mills from Reno and that she asked Price to stop at the fountain. The two men, she said, came out of the heavy brush nearby and threatened them with pistols, demanding their money.

They relieved Mrs. Bowles of a wallet containing $30 in currency and a few cents in silver.

When Mrs. Bowles' year-old baby cried, one of the two said: "Shut that kid up or we'll take care of him."

The pair disappeared into the bush and a search of the district failed to reveal any clues, although a fair description was obtained from Mrs. Bowles, atlhough she was too frightened to give more details of the robbery. Both men wore dark clothing, caps and had handkerchiefs tied over the lower part of their faces.

Preparedness is Our Strength

President Roosevelt's declaration of unlimited emergency has come none too soon. One year of defense effort has fallen short of its goal, business as usual has too much remained the order of the day, and time wasting disputes between labor and management have destroyed millions of man-hours of work. The presidential proclamation calling upon "all the loyal citizens engaged in production for defense to give precedence to the needs of the nation" must not go unanswered. Other nations who took the hazardous chance of neglecting defense preparations, who put their faith in wishful dreams and branded as "war-mongers" and meddlers those who warned of danger, are today crushed or engaged in a perilous last-ditch fight for their very survival. There is safety in preparedness only, military and moral. There is none in defeatism or indifference. America must choose full preparedness.

"Bombs" That Miss Fire

Alarmed by America's reaffirmed intention to defend its interests wherever they may be threatened, Rome, Tokyo and Berlin have redoubled the number of psychological bombs being thrown in this direction. Their purpose is obvious; their make-up is unchanged: To frighten, paralyze, and divide — a technique which by now deceives no one. Typical of these psychological attacks is the recent address to America of Pierre Laval, the French quisling, who wants this country to aid France—when England is crushed and France has become a full-fledged member of the Hitler order. The resurrection of a democratic France would, of course, spell the doom of M. Laval and his colleagues. Like Norway's Vidkun Quisling, they have hitched their wagons to Hitler's star and their words must be judged accordingly. To place faith in the free advise handed us by Vichy France, Germany, Japan and Italy is to believe those countries have our best interests at heart.

From Alaska to the Argentine

One more step toward completion of the great inter-continental highway has been taken. The Senate foreign relations committee has approved legislation authorizing this country to spend $20 million, in cooperation with six Central American countries, to complete the inter-American highway to Panama. Many sections of that great highway, which will extend from the shadow of the Arctic circle to Buenos Aires, are already done. Linking all the American nations from Alaska tothe Argentine, that roadway has much to contribute to the welfare of the entire hemisphere as an integral part of its defense and as a stimulus to trade and travel. That these results are certain is shown by our own experience. In 1904 the United States could boast no more than 150 miles of dustless roads. Today we have more than 1 million miles of improved roads and more than 100,000 miles of concrete highways. These new arteries have reclaimed from isolation thousands of American communities, have shortened routes from farms to market, have expanded marketing areas, have made possible the rural consolidated school, have provided a permanent source of employment to 6,500,000 persons in motor transport and allied fields. Roads and machines, builders in America, can be builders of the Americas!

Funds for the Needy

The tragic march of conquest in Europe and Asia has aroused many deserving groups here at home to ask Americans for funds to aid beleaguered nations and their helpless citizens. A few fly-by-night groups, ready to turn a dishonest penny to their own account, have also invaded the field. All reputable groups soliciting funds to send abroad for humanitarian purposes must secure authorization from the U. S. State Department to do so. If a solicitor is unknown to you, ask for his credentials. More than likely your local chamber of commerce or better business bureau will have full information on all authorized groups or organizations engaged in raising funds in your community. Consult them if in doubt, and make certain that your money, given for a humane and worthy purpose, goes to that cause!

GRADUATION

The youngster, when he graduates from school, as thousands of California youngsters are doing just now, is stirred by the immensity of it all. He is out in teh world, seeking the niche which will make him immortal. It is ever thus, and ever will be. And mere adults, who have failed to find their heart's desire, still know that it is there—somewhere between here and the rainbow—and hope, with all their being, that their children will find it.

Life, to be sure, is sadly realistic. The State Department of Employment, knowing that Graduation Day is here, broadcasts an appeal to the thousands of high school and college graduates to register and seek employment. "We are anxious to have all graduates register with one of our offices," says the state department's annbuncement, "in order that they may be referred to summer or permanent employment, or to training for defense industries."

When a boy, with down on his chin, gets his first job, he has really graduated. When a girl gets her first stenographic hieraglyphics in her notebook, she has really graduated. And a year or two from now, that boy and girl may be leading the pack in our business community. That's America's system of graduation!

MORALE IN ACTION

How is the army's morale? So good that down at Camp Forrest, Tenn., for instance, fledglings won't be permitted to come into actual contact with each other during this month's war games. During recent maneuvers, the men took the "battle" so seriously, they started flailing members of the "enemy" forces with rifle butts so vigorously several combatants were injured. We'd say the army's morale is more than good!

My Place In The Sun

by DOUG BARRETT

I had the pleasure this week of meeting Jackson Gregory this week. A lot of us "Johnny-Come-Latelys" don't know much about him. I met him through his niece, Marilyn Hinkle from Tahoe. It seems that he's quite a successful author and married one of "Col." C. F. McGlashen's daughters and was once principal of the high school here. Shamefacedly I must admit I have never read anything by this member of our Hall of Fame, but if his books are as interesting as he seems to be, I'll be sure and lay for one of his books.

Culture seems to have come to our mountain in tablespoon doses. First the Community Church whirlwinds into its local home talent play and then up pops the Stanford Little Theater group with a season of nine plays to be presented at the Tahoe Lake School beginning July 2. We all know our neighbors who are appearing in the church benefit play on Monday and Tuesday nights and we can rest assured that a lot of good old fashioned hard work is going in to whipping it up into presentable shape and it should be well worth seeing. Now about the scholars from Governor Stanford's finished school. Three of them came into our office Saturday to talk business and I was very favorably impressed with them as personalities, which after all is what you and I are interested in. But just a word should be devoted to their thespiac (new word, pretty nifty, what?) abilities. From all I can gather from reading hither and yawn I come to the conclusion that they are definitely in the "AAA" class.

To H. S. grads Keith Weeden, Lee Hunsinger, Betty Pearson and Rose Petroni. Remember, kids, the world ain't no oyster, it's a hare-shelled crab; but personally I like cracked crab a heck of a lot better than slick and slimy "ersters".

P. S.: Best of luck to Tahoegrads Helen Worden, Bill Bechdolt, Rod Yeakel and Mary Jane Soll.

Street Seens: Tina Gini dispensing cokes and smiles at Loynd's fountain....a gruesome twosome tippling on the brink of a crack in the sidewalk. Strangers, thank heavans.... Tony Polyanich in his shirt sleeves with the advent of summer....Joe Zorich recovering from a mighty severe arm burn. Lake Sunday School Plans Children's Day Program

by I. M. EDWARDS

LAKE TAHOE, June 5— Sunday, June 8, is Children's Day in the churches all over the United States. Tahoe Sunday School, established under the American Sunday School Union, is going to join in this great celebration by doing its little part. The program of special music, recitations and plays will be given entirely by the children. Parents and friends of the organization are urged to attend to show their interest in this splendid work in the community. A special offering will be taken for the spread of Sunday schools in communities now without them. The work in this district is done by our missionary, Rev. C. W. Graves of Reno, who is sent out by the American Sunday School Union for this purpose. The service will be at the Tahoe Community Center Hall from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m.

Fifteen children of the Tahoe Sunday School attended the party given at the home of Mrs. Tejas Edwards last Saturday afternoon. In spite of the threatening weather, out-of-doors games were enjoyed by young and old alike. Later in the afternoon election of officers was held, with Robert Stark being elected as secretary and Robert Edwards as treasurer. Plans were made for the Children's Day program. Delicious refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Willis Hevel and Mrs. Walter Hancock.

Guy Lukens, Placer county assessor, was at Tahoe Inn Monday.

Lieut. Charles Cross arrived at his Tahoe home for a short visit this week from his army duties.

TIDE WATER ASSOCIATED OIL COMPANY BUYS DEFENSE STAMPS FOR EMPLOYEES

Tide Water Associated Oil Company, through its president, William F. Humphrey, today purchased for its employees from coast to coast 10,019 U.S. Defense Postal Savings Stamps of $1.00 each and will present them with a Postal Savings Stamp Album to employees as the first step in an effort to raise $1,000,000 among the company employees for national defense.

It was the largest wholesale purchase of Postal Savings Stamps to date and is expected to be followed by similar purchases by other large concerns for their employees. The stamps and albums will be distributed immediately to The Tide Water Associated Oil Company's employees. The employees will be encouraged to purchase additional stamps to fill the albums to the $75 level needed to exchange them for U.S., Defense Bonds, Series E, which in 10 years will have a value of $100.

In announcing the stamp purchase, President Humphrey issued the following statement:

"The President of the United States proclaimed an unlimited national emergency. The President has called upon all loyal citizens to place the preservation of our nation first in mind and first in action. This demands the moral, the physical and the financial support of every citizen in proportion to his or her capacity.

"The Defense Savings Bond program of the United States of America has the three fold aim of aiding National Defense, promoting individual thrift and safeguarding the country from the dangers of inflation."

This company itself has purchased the legal limit of United States Savings Bonds permitted to be purchased in any one year by a corporation. However, it is convinced that it has the additional duty to stimulate others to participate in the patriotic program.

At the Legislature

with Allen G. Thurman 6th District Assemblyman

This week will probably be one of the most strenuous weeks of the present session of the state legislature, which incidentally is the 14th week of the spring session. Many important measures will come up for consideration including the hot cargo bill, which the Governor vetoed last week. Last Thursday the senate by a vote of 33 to 5 overrode the Governor's veto and by the time this column is printed, the lower house will in all probability have taken action one way or another regarding the matter of attempting to override the veto. It takes 54 votes in the assembly to override a veto. The measure passed the lower house a few weeks ago by a vote of 50 to 29, four votes less than the necessary vote to override the veto. And at this writing, it is difficult to say whether or not 54 votes can be obtained.

Another important measure slated to be decided upon this week is the budget bill which has been held up in free conference. For the information of my readers a free conference is composed of three senators and three assemblymen and a majority of the six members of the free conference will bring the measure again before the lower house for consideration. As we write these lines it appears that the second free conference committee has come to an agreement. If such is the case, the matter will be considered by the lower house this week. And here it may again run into opposition as it requires 54 votes to pass the budget.

The measure which would return the administration of relief to the counties and which was vetoed by the Governor will also be on the order of business this week. An attempt to override the veto will be made in the senate and if successful the same attempt will be made in the lower house. However, in our opinion, the necessary 54 votes in the assembly will hardly be forthcoming.

Last week several tax reduction bills were passed in the lower house one of wwhich would eliminate the tax on restaurant meals. It is doubtful, however, that this bill will be approved by the upper house. Another similar measure to exempt drugs from the sales tax is under consideration.

The most important piece of legislation which was passed by both houses last week was the reapportionment bill. This measure passed the lower house several weeks ago and in the original bill San Francisco county lost two assembly seats and Alameda county one. Two new assembly seats were given to Los Angeles county and one additional assembly district was awarded Kern county. In the senate, however, the bill was amended giving San Francisco eight assemblymen, instead of nine, and no new district was given Kern county. The lower house finally accepted the amended bill and it is now on the Governor's desk awaiting his approval.

In the reapportionment bill, the Sixth Assembly district, of which Nevada county is a part, remains as it is today, comprising ten counties. The Second Congressional district of which this area is a part also remains intact.

As soon as the budget bill is finally passed, appropriation bills totaling several millions of dollars will be taken up for consideration. One of these appropriation measures in which many people are interested is the bill which would appropriate $2,000,000 for additional buildings at the University of California Medical Center. The need for a new teaching hospital is great and the ways and means committee of the lower house after hearing the bill presented by Assemblyman Gardiner Johnson and several physicians, approved the bill and recommended its passage.

With so much unfinished business to be considered, it is hardly likely that the legislature will adjourn before June 14th.

WINGS FOR AMERICA

by Don Wiley
MEMBER, AVIATION WRITERS ASS'N

Crete is a distant and rocky island, remembered by the average American only because of some dim association with the usually dull doings of mythical monsters recorded in our grammar school text books. Yet, on this remote and barren isle the strange and terrible pattern of the New Warfare is being woven just as surely as it was in the fat fields of France and in the sky over Britain.

Parts of the pattern have become familiar....quick, stabbing aerial attacks that crippled defense airfields, then the raining of parachute troops at strategic points. But in Crete the Nazis have added the fantastic, the almost Martian touch of glider troop transports.

Not that the idea is new. The British have speculated for months on the possibility of Hitler employing gliders when and if he launched his invasion of England. But it seemed too bizarre to rate anything more than speculation. There were so many arguments against its possible success, so few in its favor....

For example, a glider packed with soldiers is so completely and terribly vulnerable. It carries no armament, cannot very well be equipped with armor plating. While still attached to the towing plane it is at the complete mercy of attacking fighters. Once it is cut loose it acquires a fairly high maneuverabilty, but nothing compared to the speed of a power plane which may attack it. And while the glider has an extremely low landing speed, the chances of a disastrous landing still remain tremendous.

Pancho

Pancho, canine flying pal of Lieut. Harold Johnston, just before he took off from Hamilton Field where both had been stationed. Johnston and the dog were transferred to the new army air base at Portland, Ore. Hamilton Field was sorry to lose him because who could be better in a dogfight. —U.S. Army Photo

We remember agreeing quite heartily some time ago with a military observer who argued that no large body of troops anywhere in the world could be persuaded to attempt a glider invasion. The chances were too great; it was too much like suicide.

But the battle of Crete has proved how wrong we were; how little we, along with the rest of America, recognized the dreadful fanaticism which Nazi victories have distilled in the blood of Germany's youth.

Like every other Nazi drive, Crete has been made a proving ground. The fierce fighting on that remote island may have a direct bearing upon our future lives. Perhaps we in California may see the day when our gigantic aircraft factories are building super-gliders as well as bombes, pursuits and training planes.

Only time can tell....
